Cattle Market Once More Active, Ruled Steady.

The hog market yesterday ruled 5 to 100 lower, some of the more common sales recording a flat 10 cents decline. The weakness and slump, what there was, was entirely in sympathy with all the other leading markets, most of them in fact recording declines to 15 cents flat, and all of them 10 to 150. Duliness and slow drugging trading with moderate receipts marked the day all over. Some of the early sales before the other markets re-ported, sold up with Tuesday's average, close to the top. The sympathetic tendency to declines, primarily induced by unfavorable easiern reports, was accelerated by the poor and unsatisfactory quality of the run. This was the case all through the declines are the case all through the case all through the case all through the case are the case all through the case are the the run. This was the case all through the day, only a small end of the offerings being at all attractive. There were some few fair to good bogs, and about the control of the feed lots about 500 back. being at all attractive. There were some few fair to good hogs, and about three cars of good ones, but the large bulk was common, badly mixed, and coarse. The weights, however, were higher than for some time, although this is in a measure accounted for by the fact that in most instances the weights are common to the fact that in most instances the weights are common to the fact that in most instances the weights are careful hower. Receipts, Leon accounted for by the fact that in most instances the pigs and lights were sorted well before shipping, with the result that out and sold separately, thus materially raising the general average of the re-mainder. The top load was a good, well finished lot of lard hogs, averaging 312, and sold readily at $1.17%, Dold taking them. One other load weighed above 500, in fact one pound heavier than the top load, and sold 2½ cents under the high mark. Several more weighed well up, offsetting the lighter loads and raising the average for the day to $85, against 228, the day before, 217 last week, Wednesday, and 206 a year ago. There were several cars carried over from the day before, when the closing weak market checked the activity on both sides. All the hold-overs and all the day's offerings were disposed of early and nothing was carried ver at night. In all fourteen cars were old, Dold taking the best ones; Woods also being a buyer for late arrivals and Robbins and Myers taking small bunches of lights and wagon hogs. Trade was fairly active for a falling market, and declines less than at any other point. The ipts were as liberal as was expected, owing a lower close of provisions sday. Dispatches from Chicago, referring to the week's record so far, "The oply of hogs shows a marked falling the receipts during the first half of the week footing up about 162,000 head, against 419,000 for the corresponding portion of last week." Yesterday the reits were 43,000 head, 10,306 left over from weak market, mostly 15 cents lower, 32, 000 head had been estimated for the day. There were 7,000 hogs at St. Louis, marhet 10 to 15c lower. Kansas City had a lower market, with 18,000 hogs offered. Provisions were dull and trade light, ribs registering a 7½ point decline, and lard up 2½ points. The dully comparisons on the local market are as follows: For Tops, $4.174; bulk of sales, Ill; average weight, 235; receipts, For the day previous: Tops, $4.20; bulk, $1.0074.15; average weight, 175; receipts, 1.618. strong admixture of common, mean stuff. A scanning of the lists of all the markets shows very plainly that the past two weeks buyers have frantically gathered up all sorts and conditions of hogs from any and all quarters, of all grades and weights, and rushed them into market without regard to kind or quality, with the very natural result that all receiving points have been giutted with lights, pigs, roughs, and badly mixed lots, the bottom having gone out completely from under pigs, all over. The high markets, of course, were responsible for this hit or miss business, which the subsequent de-clines effectually checked, and already the diminished receipts show a cleaner, better selected lot of offerings.

TWO BLUE RIBBONS! 7 degrees, is 1.4 degrees above the normal. ANOTHER VICTORY FOR THE "STANDARD."

Kansas State Fair, 1897.

This makes forty-four contests in which the "Standard" Square Inch Tailor System has engaged, and in every one has come out a winds, hall, heavy thunder and vivid glorious conqueror. It has for years stood at the head of every system of garment cutting in this country, and the last two victories over the New York Tailor System and the French Tailor System (on every point of merit), stamps it beyond all question the greatest system in

The judges selected at the last State Fair were the most competent experts that could be obtained, and after carefully examining every detail connected with the merits of each system, they unanimously awarded every point in favor of the "Standard," as there was no point on which it did not far excel in There was also another award given on Dress Making, and while our opponent claimed to be a New York dress maker, and had taught dress making for a number of years, yet when the truth was brought down to solid facts and they were presented before the people, it showed that her "loud talk" did not weigh in the balance with truth, honesty and justice, and a young girl of only 17 (a scholar at our school), and who had never done any dress making until she learned the "Standard," won the Blue Ribbon and first premium on every point of Dress Making. Thus it will be seen that our scholars are not only taught the foundation and true art of garment cutting, but when they are completed at one of our schools they are prepared to do the highest class of dress making. No scholar is limited to any length of time or number of lessons in which to complete the course (unless they desire it), but all are taught every branch
